Can you compose a friendly note with little detail thanking members for their patience as we completed this initial phase of the board review?

Also, can you schedule 20 minutes with Kathy Benedetto today or tomorrow?

Also, schedule an 1 1/2 hours with Margaret on Friday to get her input on our initial recommendations. It will have to be after the 10am ERB. Then, with at least an hour break, please schedule sometime for me to talk with Scott. I may also want Jim Cason to review.

The ERB meeting has been pushed back a couple of weeks. Mary told me earlier in the week and I just kept forgetting to let you know. We have done everything we need to do with your help. I am not concerned at all. This is just a timing issue. I will keep you posted if I hear anything more.

Employee's Name: Amy L. Holley		Bureau/Office: DOI-IO-ASPMB
Title: Chief of Staff	Location: Washington, DC.	Rating Period: 10/1/15- 09/30/16
Senior professionals in the Department of the Interior are accountable for supporting Departmentwide and Bureau Strategic Plans, missions, and organizational objectives. This Agreement identifies critical job elements and establishes performance requirements for each element. As described below, senior professional s will be appraised on critical elements in two categories: 1) The Departmentwide Element, which includes responsibilities shared by all senior employees, and 2) Position-specific elements, which are specific to individual employees and are linked to organizational goals and objectives. Each employee's performance must be appraised against these performance requirements (set at the beginning of each appraisal period).
Part I: Consultation
The signatures below certify that the supervisor has developed the performance agreement in consultation with the employee, discussed the agreement with the employee, and provided examples of behaviors that would/would not meet the performance standards. The discussion occurs at the beginning of the performance rating period. The employee is given a copy of the agreement.

Element Rating Definitions
Exceptional - Consistently delivered on assignments and commitments; displayed outstanding leadership in promoting the organization's strategic goals and initiatives; demonstrated the highest level of integrity and accountability in achieving program and management goals. Contributions had an impact beyond his or her immediate purview. Employee exerted a major positive influence on management practices, operating procedures or program implementation, which contributed substantially to organizational change, growth and recognition. This employee's expertise, advice and opinions are sought and respected by peers.
Superior - Performance is between the levels described for Exceptional and Fully Successful. Performance outcomes and results of the employee's leadership surpassed expectations by exceeding the majority of performance requirements. Effectiveness and contributions may have had an impact beyond the employee's purview and performance is well beyond what is expected or required for the position. Consistently demonstrated the highest level of integrity and accountability in achieving program and management goals. Served as a source of leadership and motivation for peers and subordinates.
Fully Successful - Performance demonstrates the Fully Successful level of accomplishment through observable outcomes or achievement of or substantial progress toward agreed-upon critical action, objective, and/or desired result. Expectations were consistently met with solid, dependable performance. Performance reflects notable achievements and the employee regularly demonstrated the ability to meet the difficult and complex requirements inherent in senior professional positions, while consistently demonstrating the highest level of integrity and accountability in achieving all program objectives and management goals; no areas of performance are deficient.
Minimally Successful - Performance is between the levels described for Fully Successful and Unsatisfactory. Overall performance was marginally acceptable. Assignments often required extra assistance or revision from supervisor or peers. Organizational goals were met only as a result of close supervision.
Unsatisfactory - Performance fails to meet established performance standards. The quality and quantity of work were not adequate for the position. Work products did not meet the minimum requirements expected, or the employee's work otherwise failed to contribute adequately to organizational goals.

Conversion to Initial Summary Rating:
The employee's rating is determined by using the formula below, taking into consideration the ratings for the Departmentwide element and each Position-specific element. The definitions below describe the minimums for each rating level. If the individual ratings on the elements meet the definition for a higher summary rating level, the higher summary rating level applies.
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Exceptional Rated Exceptional on 75% or more of the elements; no elements rated below Superior.	<input type="checkbox"/> Superior Rated Superior on 75% or more of the elements; no elements rated below Fully Successful.	<input type="checkbox"/> Fully Successful Rated Fully Successful or higher on all elements.	<input type="checkbox"/> Minimally Successful Rated Minimally Successful on one or more elements, no elements are rated Unsatisfactory.	<input type="checkbox"/> Unsatisfactory Rated Unsatisfactory on any element.

If plan has 7 elements total, 75% = 6 elements; If plan has 6 elements total, 75% = 5 elements
 If plan has 5 elements total, 75% = 4 elements; If plan has 4 elements total, 75% = 3 elements
 If plan has 3 elements total, 75% = 3 elements

Part V: Performance Elements

Element 1: Mandatory Departmentwide Element (Fully Successful Standard)

All Interior employees share certain critical responsibilities that are instrumental for achieving results. These responsibilities reflect those that are shared by all Department of the Interior employees. The employee and immediate supervisor jointly review these responsibilities to ensure mutual understanding.

Employee, Customer and/or Citizen Feedback:

Listens to stakeholders (employees, when applicable, colleagues and customers) to identify needs and expectations. Builds strong alliances, involves stakeholders in making decisions, and gains cooperation to achieve mutually satisfying solutions. Understands and uses organizational realities, networks, and accepted practices to achieve desired business results. Uses collaborative techniques and tools, such as adaptive management or structured decision making, to foster partnering and collaboration. Where appropriate, communicates to employees the importance of results and customer focus as a critical component of the organization's mission. Builds trust and cooperative working relationships with stakeholders both within and outside of the organization, as appropriate.

Ethics and Conduct:

For Supervisory officials: Creates and sustains a positive workplace that inspires others to support the organization's mission and goals. Uses sound judgment to make effective and timely decisions. Demonstrates integrity and high ethical standards of public service. Exhibits a leadership style that demonstrates integrity, sound judgment and high ethical standards of public service. Motivates others to achieve high performance through open and honest communication

For Non-supervisory officials: Contributes to a positive workplace that supports the organization's mission and goals. Uses sound judgment to make effective and timely decisions. Demonstrates integrity and high ethical standards of public service. Models the Department's core values statement: "Stewardship for America with Integrity and Excellence." Fosters open and honest communications, trust and teamwork among peers.

If the employee encumbers a position with subordinates, the following apply:

Internal Controls:

Pursues business excellence through effective process management and the application of balanced measures. Develops and executes plans to achieve organizational goals, leveraging resources (human, financial, etc.) to maximize efficiency and produce high quality results. Ensures effective internal and management controls and takes appropriate action to strengthen controls or correct identified weaknesses. Responds appropriately to GAO, IG or other internal or external audit reports. Ensures that corrective action plans that fix the identified weaknesses are implemented. Advocates organizational integrity by maintaining personal knowledge of acceptable business practices and procedures. Identifies and reports waste, fraud, and abuse. Learns about current and emerging issues/developments in own field of expertise and applies knowledge to make technically sound operational decisions. Identifies and utilizes policies and economic, political, and social trends in an effort to improve organizational performance. Initiates actions and manages risks to develop new products and services within or outside the organization. Acts to continuously improve products and services.

Strategic Management of Human Capital:

Sets effective performance standards aligned with organizational goals and engages in rigorous and realistic performance management of subordinates. Effectively uses feedback, coaching and timely evaluations of performance to promote cooperation, teamwork, knowledge sharing, and goal accomplishment. Ensures that performance ratings provide for meaningful distinctions in performance. Appropriately recognizes and rewards performance. Demonstrates an understanding of and commitment to equal employment opportunity and associated goals established by the bureau or office. Ensures subordinate supervisors have effective managerial communication and interpersonal skills to supervise and develop a diverse workforce.

Mandatory Departmentwide Element (Cont'd)
Optional Organizational Performance Standards (Fully Successful) - use this space to clarify or tailor standards to specific bureau needs.
Position-Specific Elements
In the space below, the employee and his or her immediate supervisor must describe at least two, but no more than six critical actions, objectives, and/or results that the incumbent will be expected to accomplish during the performance rating period. These elements must be derived from and directly contribute to the program priorities and objectives established by the organization's Strategic Plan, Government Performance and Results Act (GPRA), Program Assessment and Reporting Tool (PART), President's Management Agenda, or other strategic planning document. These elements may be modified during the evaluation period if circumstances warrant. Changes must be made at least 90 days before the end of the evaluation period to prevent having to extend the evaluation period.
Element 2: (Mandatory) Advise and assist the ASPMB in coordinating policies and priorities among ASPMB offices.	Link to Strategic Plan/Organizational Goals: Management Excellence
Performance Commitments (written at the Fully Successful level) Work collaboratively with ASPMB offices in establishing and implementing ASPMB priorities. Track cross-cutting policy issues. Handle intra-party disagreements with professionalism and effectiveness.

Hi Heather,

For a Washington Post Federal Insider column I'm planning, I'd like to get the number, gender, race and date of SES appointment of the senior execs transferred under the Trump/Zinke administration at Interior.

Thank you.

Best,

Joe

Agreed.

Some were added in the past when we had few choices,
There will be multiple opportunities to alter & trim the group size, as we get confirmations done.

I think a couple of meetings with this group will allow you observation time to see who contributes meaningfully to a thoughtful discussion.

Thanks for adding Doug Domenech to the list of ERB members.

In addition, please add Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary-Indian Affairs (John Tahsuda) as a member.

With these changes, the entire DOI leadership team will be represented.

Let's see if we can get the memo signed by Thursday COB, in anticipation of the Friday ERB meeting.

Thanks.

Julie/Rob,

Attached is a memo adding a member to the Executive Resources Board. It would be good to have the memo signed by Friday if at all possible.

Thanks,

Hello,

Hope you are well. I see that the Interior Department's executive resource board consists solely of the department's political staff.

I know that the Office of Personnel Management recommended that ERBs have a mix of political, career, SES and non-career staff (recommendations here). What is the reason that DOI decided to ignore the OPM recommendations and sit only political staff on the ERB? Is there concern that too many people on the ERB have backgrounds in energy industry lobbying or personal ties to the Secretary, which may impede independent analysis?

Did the Secretary's office consider any career employees for possible placement on the ERB?

To verify, this is the complete make-up of the ERB:

Zinke stacks staffing board with political aides, former lobbyists

By Ben Lefebvre

09/28/2017 03:41 PM EDT

Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke has assigned only political appointees, including several former industry lobbyists, as members of an advisory board on staffing and personnel issues, a move critics say sidelines members of the government workforce who are supposed to get a seat at the table.

The makeup of the Executive Resources Board contradicts federal guidelines that recommend giving career employees an equal voice in such discussions, and it is fueling criticism Zinke is crowding out independent experts and giving too much voice to the industries his department oversees.

The nine-member board is being led by Deputy Secretary of the Interior David Bernhardt, a former lobbyist whose clients included oil and gas interests; Associate Deputy Secretary James Cason, who worked energy issues for Kelly, Anderson & Associates, Inc.; and White House liaison Lori Mashburn, among other political staff with history of lobbying for the oil and gas industry.

Zinke established the board to "oversee all aspects of the management of executive resources," including senior managers, scientists and policy staff at the department, according to an Aug. 11 memo.

"This is very much of a pattern," said Chris Saeger, executive director of the Western Values Project, which obtained the memo through a Freedom of Information Act request and shared it with POLITICO. "They have made a practice of shuffling career staff, marginalizing them. They're sending a very clear message, that they want to consolidate power with people who are loyal to Zinke and President. "

Interior spokeswoman Heather Swift did not answer questions about why Zinke included only political appointees as members of the ERB. She did point out that two career employees, acting Deputy Assistant Secretary for Human Capital and Diversity Mary Pletcher and Deputy Solicitor for General Law Ed Keable, will serve as advisers to the board.

Zinke came under fire earlier this week when he questioned the loyalty of many Interior staffers, and he has previously raised eyebrows for shuffling senior employees into jobs they did not seem suited for, in one instance reassigning a manager overseeing climate change issues to a job collecting oil and gas royalties. Interior's inspector general has launched an investigation into the staff moves.

The secretary's decision does not comport with recommendations from the Office of Personnel Management, which has suggested that such boards consist of a mix of career staff, senior executive staff and political staff.

"It is not advisable to have an ERB that is exclusively or predominantly career executives, nor is it recommended to have an ERB that is exclusively or predominantly political appointees; both perspectives should be well represented to ensure a balanced view, when possible," OPM said in a 2009 report.

Interior's inspector general has launched an investigation into the staff moves.

The secretary's decision does not comport with recommendations from the Office of Personnel Management, which has suggested that such boards consist of a mix of career staff, senior executive staff and political staff.

"It is not advisable to have an ERB that is exclusively or predominantly career executives, nor is it recommended to have an ERB that is exclusively or predominantly political appointees; both perspectives should be well represented to ensure a balanced view, when possible," OPM said in a 2009 report.

Zinke stacks staffing board with political aides, former lobbyists

By Ben Lefebvre

09/28/2017 03:41 PM EDT

Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke has assigned only political appointees, including several former industry lobbyists, as members of an advisory board on staffing and personnel issues, a move critics say sidelines members of the government workforce who are supposed to get a seat at the table.

The makeup of the Executive Resources Board contradicts federal guidelines that recommend giving career employees an equal voice in such discussions, and it is fueling criticism Zinke is crowding out independent experts and giving too much voice to the industries his department oversees.

The nine-member board is being led by Deputy Secretary of the Interior David Bernhardt, a former lobbyist whose clients included oil and gas interests; Associate Deputy Secretary James Cason, who worked energy issues for Kelly, Anderson & Associates, Inc.; and White House liaison Lori Mashburn, among other political staff with history of lobbying for the oil and gas industry.

Zinke established the board to "oversee all aspects of the management of executive resources," including senior managers, scientists and policy staff at the department, according to an Aug. 11 memo.

"This is very much of a pattern," said Chris Saeger, executive director of the Western Values Project, which obtained the memo through a Freedom of Information Act request and shared it with POLITICO. "They have made a practice of shuffling career staff, marginalizing them. They're sending a very clear message, that they want to consolidate power with people who are loyal to Zinke and President. "

Interior spokeswoman Heather Swift did not answer questions about why Zinke included only political appointees as members of the ERB. She did point out that two career employees, acting Deputy Assistant Secretary for Human Capital and Diversity Mary Pletcher and Deputy Solicitor for General Law Ed Keable, will serve as advisers to the board.

Zinke came under fire earlier this week when he questioned the loyalty of many Interior staffers, and he has previously raised eyebrows for shuffling senior employees into jobs they did not seem suited for, in one instance reassigning a manager overseeing climate change issues to a job collecting oil and gas royalties. Interior's inspector general has launched an investigation into the staff moves.

The secretary's decision does not comport with recommendations from the Office of Personnel Management, which has suggested that such boards consist of a mix of career staff, senior executive staff and political staff.

"It is not advisable to have an ERB that is exclusively or predominantly career executives, nor is it recommended to have an ERB that is exclusively or predominantly political appointees; both perspectives should be well represented to ensure a balanced view, when possible," OPM said in a 2009 report.

Dan,

There are two personnel actions that I need to confirm with you.

First, for the position of Acting Regional Solicitor for the Northeast Region, Tony Sullins' initial 120-day detail expires on October 30. Would you like to extend that for an additional 120 days. This will require ERB approval. He will not be able to hold the Acting position for more than 240 days.

Second, should Ed McDonnell be designated as Acting DAEO/Director Ethics Office for an initial 120-day period?

Thank you.

Marc.

I shared my list with you guys yesterday on google drive- but just in case you just wanted it in excel, here you go.

I also included the list I used for 4th of July- it has tabs on the bottom. Might have some names you can use.

There is also a "sportsmen" list. This was shared with us from NFWF. Jason went through and started labeling the groups.

Thanks!

Hi Mary. As discussed, attached is the proposed ERB memo requesting that Director IBC position be re-located in DC. Amy reviewed it already. Please let me know if the Executive Resources team puts together the package. I think I would like this to go before the ERB this Friday, if possible. I want to get this change of duty station accomplished before we lose our chief of staff who knows the history of why the duty station has been in NY, and before we get our new Assistant Secretary for PMB. Having the TIBS leadership team in place when the Assistant Secretary PMB arrives would be optimal for IBC in my view.

I will brief Scott today too.

Thanks.

To: Executive Resources Board

From: Elena Gonzalez
Deputy Assistant Secretary – Technology, Information and Business Services

Subject: Request Approval for Change in Duty Station for Ms. Michele Singer

The Deputy Assistant Secretary – Technology, Information and Business Services (DAS TIBS) requests approval for a permanent change of duty station for the Director of the Interior Business Center (IBC), Michele Singer, from Brooklyn, NY, to Washington, DC. The cost of the move will be funded by the IBC. The relocation of this senior leadership position to DC, aligns the IBC executive leadership team in the metro DC area and in Lakewood, CO, where the majority of IBC’s employees, contractor support, and customers are located, and affords greater accessibility and more consistent interactions with senior leaders in DOI’s headquarters.

IBC is a federal shared service provider with three lines of business: human resources/payroll, financial management and acquisition services, and approximately 950 full time employees in seven locations nationwide: DC, Herndon, Lakewood, Boise, Anchorage, Sacramento and Sierra Vista. The leadership for acquisition services is in Herndon, VA, and for human resources/payroll is in Lakewood, CO. Financial management services and the Office of the Director have managers and staff in DC and Lakewood. The Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO) works closely with IBC, with managers and staff co-located with IBC in Lakewood and DC. The CIO leadership team is in DC. IBC services more than 75 other federal organizations. Those customers’ headquarters and senior leadership are primarily located in DC. The federal shared services governance structures and councils operate under the auspices and guidance of the General Services Administration and the Office of Management and Budget out of DC.

Moving Ms. Singer’s duty station to DC will improve ease of coordination and communication with key stakeholders, support IBC’s organizational change management initiatives including better integration with DOI leadership and engagement with bureau representatives on the Working Capital Fund Consortium, and reduce the need for travel between NY and DC.

Thank you for your consideration of this request. If you need additional information, please contact Elena Gonzalez, DAS TIBS, at Elena\_Gonzalez@ios.doi.gov or 202-208-5043.

M,

We just received the ERB approval from the Departmental Executive Resources office this morning, and it looks like the personnel action should be effective December 1, per the ERB approval. However, I will note that this will take place in the middle of the pay period, so there will need to be coordination between the offices, as one week will be certified by ASLM and the other week OCIO. I will note that there have been pay related issues when this has not executed correctly.

Thanks,
Peyton

Dan,

There have been 10 applicants so far for the Ethics position. That ad closes on 11/6. There have been 3 applicants so far for the Alaska position. That ad closes on 11/9. Since Sharon will be out for a few days, we should decide today if we want to extend the Ethics ad. She will talk a look and give me a sense of the applicants.

The Southeast region PD will need to be updated, since it was last prepared in 1999. Sharon and I will work with Horace on that.

I've asked Michelle and Jonathan to put the NER Regional Solicitor back on the ERB agenda.

WASHINGTON

NOV 01 2017

Memorandum

To: Deputy Secretary
Chief of Staff
Associate Deputy Secretary
Acting Solicitor
Assistant Secretary for Insular Affairs
Acting Assistant Secretary for Land and Minerals Management

From: Secretary

Subject: Executive Resources Board

On May 19, 2017, I established the Executive Resources Board (ERB or Board). Effective the date of this memorandum, I am adding two career members of the Senior Executive Service to the Board – Ms. Glenda Owens and Mr. Richard Cardinale. I am also adjusting the number of members on the Board to ensure timely and effective decisionmaking.

The ERB for the Department of the Interior membership is as follows:

- Deputy Secretary, Chairperson
(Mr. David Bernhardt)
- Chief of Staff, Member
(Mr. Scott Hommel)
- Associate Deputy Secretary, Member
(Mr. James Cason)
- Acting Solicitor, Member
(Mr. Daniel Jorjani)
- Assistant Secretary for Insular Areas, Member
(Mr. Douglas Domenech)
- Acting Director for the Office of Surface Mining, Reclamation and Enforcement, Member
(Ms. Glenda Owens)
- Senior Program Manager and Chief of Staff, Assistant Secretary for Land and Minerals Management, Member
(Mr. Richard Cardinale)

The Deputy Assistant Secretary – Human Capital and Diversity/Chief Human Capital Officer (Ms. Mary Pletcher) will serve as an advisor to the Board. The ERB will continue to play a prominent role in determining the executive resources needs of the Department's bureaus and offices. The ERB will oversee all aspects of the management of executive resources to include Senior Executive Service, Senior Level, and Scientific and Professional resources. In addition, the ERB will retain final approval of other aspects of these programs, including position establishment, recruitment, qualification requirements, selection, pay setting, performance appraisals, performance awards, executive development, Presidential Rank Awards and all other recognition, and the establishment of the Department's Performance Review Boards.

Dan,

There have been 10 applicants so far for the Ethics position. That ad closes on 11/6. There have been 3 applicants so far for the Alaska position. That ad closes on 11/9. Since Sharon will be out for a few days, we should decide today if we want to extend the Ethics ad. She will talk a look and give me a sense of the applicants.

The Southeast region PD will need to be updated, since it was last prepared in 1999. Sharon and I will work with Horace on that.

I've asked Michelle and Jonathan to put the NER Regional Solicitor back on the ERB agenda.

As a follow-up, Sharon says none of the Alaska applicants so far are qualified. Only 3 or 4 of the Ethics applicants are qualified. I've asked Sharon to extend both ads for 10 days.
